OF MICE AND Men is the first movie scheduled for Mid Valley Fire Department's fund raising drive.

First fund raising film

On September 15 and September 30, the volunteer firemen of Mid Carmel Valley Fire Department will host the presentation of two classic, feature length movies. Proceeds from the sale of tickets and refreshments will be placed in the Department's Rescue Vehicle Fund for the purchase of an emergency rescue van and advanced life-saving and first aid equipment.

On Wednesday evening, September 15, John Steinbeck's classic "OF MICE AND MEN" will be shown. Starring Lon Chaney, Jr. as "Lenny," Burgess Meredith, Betty Fields, Bob Steele, with music by Arron Copeland, this 1939 film is set in Monterey County's Salinas Valley.

And on Thursday evening, September 30, "AND THEN THERE WERE NONE," based on Agatha Christie's play, "Ten Little Indians," will be presented.

Both film programs will be presented at Quail Lodge in the beautiful Valley Room. Cocktails and refreshments ($1.00 donation) and films will begin at 7 p.m. on both September 15 and September 30. Seating is limited. Tickets for each program is $5.00, and may be purchased from any Mid Valley volunteer fireman or at the Fire Station located at 8455 Carmel Valley Road, phone 624-5907.

In addition to the films, door prizes will be awarded in a special drawing for those persons purchasing tickets. Advanced lifesaving and first aid equipment will be displayed and demonstrated by the firemen. This type of equipment is important, notes Chief Mike Ellsworth, since the department is called to a medical emergency on the average of once every three days. And he adds, "Supporting our fund raising events on September 15 and 30 will not only benefit the entire community, but will also be a most enjoyable evening."

Cement pour begins Nursery School year

LAYING THE SIDEWALK was a real group effort.

WATCHING THE PROGRESS of their new sidewalk are Christene and Heather Leary, Ethan Tancredi and Amy Plomteaux.

By CAROL RICE

Pouring cement may not be everyone's idea of preschool education, but parents of Mid Valley Parent Cooperative students find themselves doing a little bit of everything in their effort to educate their three and four-year-olds.

This summer they moved their Co-op from a church to its new location at Carmelo School, and one of numerous moving projects was pouring a tricycle path.

It took two truck loads of cement to complete the job. The truck driver couldn't get over the labor force. "This has got to be the most amazing thing I have ever seen," he chuckled as he watched the moms down on their knees smoothing the concrete, the dads pushing the wheelbarrows and the kids leaving their mark with handprints, footprints and cookie cutters.

Previously some fathers had cut a path in the sod and put in forms. Parents have worked the past four Saturdays setting up playground equipment, painting and readying the classroom.

Barbara Novelli directs the school and the pleasure she gets from her job is obvious to anyone who watches her talking intently to a child about a tadpole or bouncing enthusiastically around the room doing the everyday work of a nursery school director.

"I like the kids," she says. "And it sounds corny, but the neatest kind of people send their kids to a co-op. They are the kind who want to give and learn; they are not sterile and static."

She mentioned that a woman who had a son in the school last year and has since moved to Massachusetts had written she was very upset because to get her son in a comparable nursery program this year, she was going to have to pay $1000 tuition.

The cost is $15 a month for co-op students. Also a parent has to work one morning a week and attend a Thursday night class.

The Mid Valley Co-op is one of three preschools in the Carmel Unified School District's adult education program.

The school district moved the nursery school toys and supplies from the old location and build a redwood playground fence at Carmelo.

Mrs. Novelli and some parents set up the classroom with areas for reading, dress-up, puppet theater, playhouse, painting, blocks and small toy play, and tables for daily projects.

"An outstanding thing about this whole effort is that I've heard no grumbling" commented Phyllis Shopbell, a parent.

The school is filled for the fall semester, but there is a waiting list for possible vacancies or next year.

At the end of cement-pouring day, an appreciative parent inscribed the newly laid concrete at the classroom's door, "NoBelly's Co-op." The pronounciation of Novelli escapes many of Barbara's three and four-year old students, and she's often called "NoBelly" which she finds humorous.

THE "PEANUT GALLERY" kept an eye on the entire operation.

Silver wedding anniversary

The silver anniversary of a wedding which took place August 25, 1951 at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel was celebrated last week with guests greeting Florence and Carl Naslund at a reception at the home of Vera and Bert Heckenlaible, who had served as the couple's matron of honor and best man.

Guests were welcomed and invited to sign the guest book by Gene Barr and Mari Henderson.

Symbolic of their years together was the "tree of bells" over the fireplace. Large silver and white floral arrangements and paper wedding bells were used in the party decor throughout the rooms.

Silver tapers in silver hurricane lamps and flowers complimented the beautiful wedding cake baked by Mrs. John Pattulo Jr. of Seaside, which centered the table laden with champagne punch, fruit punch, cookies and party sandwiches. The cake was served by Jackie Heckenlaible, who sang at the couple's wedding, and the punch was served by Kirsten Jensen, Fresno, Sara Henderson, and Louise Barr. Mary Heckenlaible presided at the silver coffee service.

A beautiful "Friendship Quilt" made by Kitako Henderson was presented to the celebrants. Each square on the keepsake held the signature of family and friends embroidered by Kitako who in addition had mailed squares to friends far away who were unable to attend the party.

Houseguests here for the affair who stayed at Naslunds' River Road home were; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bergfors, Rancho Santa Fe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, Los Angeles, Gunnar Jensen, (Florence's grandson), Fresno, and Sharon Keith, Fresno.

Houseguests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Heckenlaible were Mr. and Mrs. John DeMello, Lemoore, Herb Jensen and daughter, Kirsten of Fresno, (Florence's son and grandaughter).

Other out of town guests responding to the attractive invitations made by Florence's son, Don Jensen, were; from Pacific Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Capon, Mrs. Russell Sprague, and Mrs. Charles Barrett and son, Bob. Also Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bice, Castro Valley, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Walnut Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gerard, Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. John Pattullo, Seaside, Mrs. Sam Boardman, Antioch, Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Lugo, Salinas and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Heckenlaible, Fresno, Mr. and Mrs. George Demetrios, Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Safir, Kensington, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith, Palo Alto, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Lauridsen, Monterey.

Among the local guests were; Miss Lawson Miller, Miss Almira Davis, Dr. and Mrs. S.N. Trevino, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Mirani, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Heckenlaible, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hansen, Mrs. Loring Warner, Mrs. Phillip Walker, Mrs. Ruth Titus, Mrs. Dorothy Griffith, and John Broberg.

Chapel guild tea

The Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild will hold its first meeting of the 1976-77 year with a Welcoming Tea on Wednesday September 8 at 12:15 p.m. in Fellowship Hall on Village Drive. The officers and board members will preside at the Tea, with Mrs. Don Johnson as chairman and Mrs. Edmund Capon as co-chairman, assisted by Mrs. John S. Power, Mrs. Joseph Baudouin and Mrs. Joseph Stekly.

All women in Carmel Valley — especially newcomers — are invited to join Guild members for the afternoon to enjoy the program and Tea.

Mrs. Keith Pierce of Pebble Beach will talk on "Enameling on Metal", show examples of her work, and give a history of medieval enameling. Kalinka Pierce (Mrs. Keith) came to the Monterey area ten years ago and in order to get acquainted took a ceramic class, and then went on to enameling, lapidary work, polishing stones, and making lost wax jewelry. She is very artistic and talented and has become proficient in this work. She was born in Paris and came to America at the age of six, residing in Massachusetts where she attended Boston schools — including the Boston Museum School where she learned jewelry making and silversmithing. She met Mr. Pierce in Mexico, where they were married. His profession was the restoration of old 17th Century homes, in which Mrs. Pierce assisted him. Her wonderful background and work in this old but unusual art will offer an entertaining afternoon for all who attend.

Awards banquet

It was a victory celebration combined with the traditional awards barbecue on Sunday in Toro Park when the 1976 Tri-County Diving Champions, the 1976 Coast Valley Athletic League Swim Champions, their coaches, parents, and families gathered in the Buckeye section. Team mothers, Lou Langley and Barbara Allard were in charge of arrangements.

It was also a farewell party for Larry Challis who has coached the Barracuda swimmers since 1970. He received gifts and a standing ovation from the 200 in attendance in appreciation of his contribution to the team.

Co-chairmen of the successful Swim-a-thon, Chuck McKay and Fred Crummey presented certificates and patches from the International Swimming Hall of Fame to the 160 participants. Medals and gift certificates were presented to "top dollar swimmers" Jennifer MacNamara, Leona McKenzie, Stacy Anastasia, Bill Griffith, Lisa Crummey, and Betsy Keith. Each had earned more than $100 in pledges for the benefit.

Thank you gifts from the teams were presented to the coaching staff including Larry Challis, Rich Holine, Diana Whitesides, Chaco Mohler, Ken Conklin, Scott Rose, Karen Limov, Anita Campbell, and Cyn Satchell.

chamber chatter

Welcome to new members and some former members who have just joined us: Allan's Natural Foods, Buccaneer Men's Shop (Rich Fields), Carmel Valley Mobil (Dave Marshall), Carde Real Estate, Valley Landscaping (Bill King), Village Meats (Paul Ricketson), Chatterbox Restaurant (Fran Wright), Carmel Valley Appliance Repair and Sales (Ed Mosieur), J.B. Heating (Jack Boulanger), Carmel Valley Standard (John Church), Ralph Erion Printing, Robles del Rio Lodge (Bill Wood), Graciella's Casa d'Italia (Nick Baldino), Powell, Barelli & Dunn Attorneys-at-Law, Carmel Valley Answering Service (Hank Lane, Tod's Hill Garden Shop (Terry Tod), Oak Tree Pharmacy (Lloyd Smith), Stu's Plumbing (Stewart Clough), Grapevine Liquors, Robert Sierra, Rippling River RSVP, Country Inn, (Jean Helfer), and a few others whose cards haven't arrived yet.

Our large handy-reference directory should be coming out this month. It will contain the names and telephone numbers of all member businesses and services, plus doctors and dentists. It will be given to homes and businesses throughout the Valley.

We will join the Carmel Business Association in their annual steak barbecue on September 10 at Hidden Valley Music Seminars. Tickets are $7.50 for a fabulous feed and dancing to live music. Make your reservations by calling the C.B.A. before September 7 at 624-2522, and look forward to getting better acquainted with the Carmel business people.

At our last meeting we discussed a need for a public picnic area near the Village. Dr. Von Berg mentioned that Canada has simple directional signs showing a picture of a picnic table with arrows pointing toward the area. Two possible sites will be considered: It was suggested that people be guided to the Garland Ranch Regional Park. Also a committee was formed to look into the cost and possibility of working with the Community Center.

An overwhelming thank-you to Jim Miller at Canary Cottages for his generous contribution to the Beautification Fund. It will certainly be used for plants and improvements that everyone can take pride in, and enjoy.

We also discussed the litter problem in the Village, and are looking for suggestions as to how we can keep it clean. An area of particular concern is the Schwarz Memorial Park by the Bank of America. Jim Miller, his two sons and Ralph Payton spent considerable hours this month cleaning up this small park, pruning and caring for the plants and trees, carting away many loads of garbage, and they stained the benches with redwood stain last Friday. On Saturday morning the park was strewn with trash and garbage, and the benches were marked with new carving, which is very discouraging. New plants will be put in, and we welcome any help or suggestions from anyone about this problem. The Park is for everyone to enjoy, and the vandalism and litter are most miserable. Call us at 659-4000 if you can help.

Plans are in the offing for a harvest-time barn dance. Watch this column for time and place.

Final week of Shakespeare Festival

Shakespeare's hilarious farce The Comedy of Errors will mark the closing of the Forest Theater Guild's 1976 Shakespeare Festival, this weekend September 2, 3, 4 at the historic Forest Theater in Carmel.

Combining virtually all the ingredients of Shakespere's humorous techniques, Comedy leads the audience as well as the actors on a joyous romp through mistaken identities and double entendres!

It is the riotous tale of two sets of identical twins, separated in infancy, who suddenly appear in the same city at the same time. Masters and servants, husbands and wives, townspeople and viewers, become totally confused as the sets of twins are constantly interchanged.

Wives claim the wrong husbands, servants are beaten without reason, funds are misplaced, goods misdelivered, and false arrests made! Complete madcap disorder results!

Comedy is directed by Peter B. Magee, well-known local director and actor, and stars Harry Rogers and Ernest Zeppa as the Antipholus twins, with Adam Lembeck and Richard Pettit as the irrepressible servant twins Dromio.

Monica LaVelle and Annie Holt Atherton are the perplexed sister team; Susan Tescher, the "dangerous" courtesan, and Carrol Moorer the excitable maid. Other cast members include Jeff Hudelson as the distraught, omni-present Goldsmith; Mark Shuler as the doddering swordsman.

Performances are at 8:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, with the box office open at 7:30 p.m. nights of the show. Tickets are also available at Carmel Music and Lily Walker Records and Music in Pacific Grove, or by calling 624-1531.

Fiddler returns

Monterey Peninsula College Players' highly-successful production of "Fiddler on the Roof" will be brought back to the MPC Theatre stage by popular demand beginning Thursday, Sept. 2, for a four-night-only run.

The musical opened for two weeks July 29 and then was held over a third week for a total of 12 sellout nights. Consequently, reservations for the Sept. 2, 3, 4 and 5 performances are strongly suggested. They may be made now by calling 375-0455 after 5 p.m.

The show, directed and choreographed by Fred Weiss, drew highly favorable reviews opening night. Local critics singled out the dancing as the outstanding element in the show but also praised the musicians, singers and sets. Joseph F. Garland's portrayal of the dairyman, Tevye, was particularly acclaimed. Tickets are priced at $3 for general admission and $1.50 for students and military. Curtain time is 8 p.m. for all performances.

Fair this week

Blue ribbon cakes, grand champion animals, unique floral arrangements, impressive vegetables, thrilling carnival rides, exciting entertainment, balloons, hot dogs — all the ingredients of a fair can be found this week at the Monterey County Fair, which opened on Tuesday (Aug. 31) at the Fairgrounds in Monterey.

Through Sunday, the Fair exhibits will display the work of county residents, and a varied fare of entertainment will be offered to Fairgoers. In Pattee Arena, recording stars entertain each evening at 7 and 9:30 — Thursday, Freddy Fender; Friday, Blood Sweat and Tears; Saturday, the Pointer Sisters. On Sunday afternoon, at 2 and 4 p.m., Myron Floren, Anacani, Ken Delo, Bobby Burgess and Cissy King of the Lawrence Welk television show will entertain.

Meanwhile, on the outdoor stage where free entertainment is offered daily, Roge the Magician will give two shows on Saturday, at noon and 8 p.m. Ventriloquist Glenn Haywood offers two shows daily, at 2:15 and 5:30 p.m., and at 6:30 each evening one of the area's outstanding bands performs. Thursday it will be Cold Shot; Friday, Mongoose; Saturday, Spring Mill Grind; and Sunday, Cross Roads.

The Jumping Frog Contest sponsored by the Monterey Active 20-30 Club is set for 3 p.m. Saturday, and at 10 a.m. that day the Junior Livestock Auction begins with buyers bidding on the animals brought to the Fair for judging by 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America Chapter members. The popular Marimba Serenaders from Salinas will play at noon and 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Featured on the outdoor stage at the Fair at 6:30 p.m. daily, Tuesday, Aug. 31, through Sunday, Spet. 5, will be one of the leading bands of the area. Scheduled are the following:

Tuesday, Aug. 31: Parallel Vibrations, a New York band recently arrived on the Monterey Peninsula which has delighted audiences at the Monterey Elks Club, Seaside Youth Center and Fort Ord clubs. Guitarist Danny Nugent leads this rock and soul group, with Paula Winston the featured vocalist. Other members include Rogleio Nugent, saxophone, and Carlos Cox, trumpet. Michael Armstrong, drums, and Eddie Brown, lead guitarist, cut records with the Inside Voices on the east coast.

Wednesday, Sept. 1: Mulligan Hill, three versatile musicians who describe their music as "contemporary dance music." Linda McCall, drummer; Hank Bellone, bass; and Frank Johnson, lead guitar, have played at night clubs, concerts, the Big Hat Barbecue in Salinas, and will play at the Artichoke Festival in Castroville.

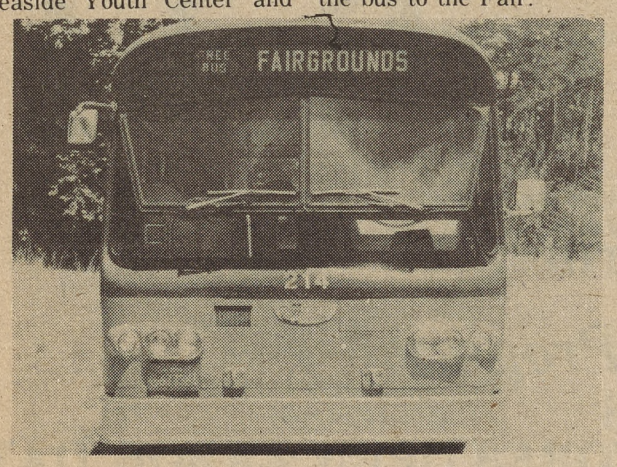

Thursday, Sept. 2: Cold Shot, which will be playing its first outdoor concert at the Fair. This group, headed by Harry Abrams, organist, who was one of the members of Sideminder, has been playing at the Mission Ranch and the Boiler Room.

Friday, Sept. 3: Mongoose, who performed together as the New Miracles for eight years, got together again about three years ago under a new name. Ray Simpson is lead singer, and the others are Terry Reyes, bass guitar; Rey Belmas, lead guitar; Jesse Centano, keyboard; Frank Guzman, congos. They play disco, soul, "bubble gum" and hard rock.

Saturday, Sept. 4: Spring Mill Grind, a Salinas-based group which specializes in danceable rock and roll, and is appearing at Cal Expo. Band members are Bob Hagemier, lead guitarist and lead vocalist; Ralph Braun, rhythm guitar; Richard Fazzi, bass guitar; Steve Atwood, drums.

Sunday, Sept. 5: Cross Roads, back from a tour of the Mid-West. This group plays rock and roll, blues, jazz and funk, and includes David Diaz, Jr., Sal Diaz and Walter Visijon, who play guitar and sing, and Claude DiFranco, drums and vocals.

Free bus service to the Fairgrounds from all parts of the Monterey Peninsula has solved the perennial parking problem, and many out-of-towners park in a convenient location and take the bus to the Fair.

Joe Regelski

Well, the summer season officially ends this week with what we call Labor Day and then it's back to a more normal pace for residents and visitors alike. With this in mind, I'll turn over the gist of this week's column to the visitors to the Peninsula and give them a quick rundown of who to see this weekend on the entertainment scene.

First of all, those of you who see that Blood, Sweat and Tears are going to be performing this Friday at the Fair should keep one important factor in mind: none of the original members of the group remain. Drummer and group leader Bobby Columby no longer tours with the act — he stays at home and produces the group's records. Columby is the last recognition to the jazz fan who has supported this group throughout the bad times when David Clayton Thomas was away on the Vegas circuit. If you want to see Clayton Thomas by all means go to the concerts. If you expect to see BS&T blaze more frontiers on the jazz scene it would be best for you to stay at home.

Now let's sort out the premiere acts in the area to make selections easier for our weekend visitor already hassled by large crowds:

Adult acts — Like to stay away from the teenyboppers? I suggest two tasty spots — the Outrigger and the Del Monte Hyatt House. The Outrigger features comedienne Sioux Scott Wednesday through Saturday. Sioux's banter is adult humor — it's delightfully bawdy and interspersed with show tunes and little known melodies from the past. You can spend an evening with Sioux and her fine pianist Tom Fordham. By the way, get involved with her act. The more audience participation, the merrier.

The Hyatt House features the talented Cloudburst group featuring pianist Bob Phillips, Brad Bivens on guitar, bassist Ray Drummond and drummer Bill LePine. You can listen to this talented quartet or dance if you like at the Pirate's Cove Lounge. Cloudburst is scheduled to play at this year's Monterey Jazz Festival. Need we say more?

Specialty acts — We'll limit this category to jazz and folk. The winners in this category are vocalist Len Dixon and Osprey.

Dixon weaves magic with the jazz ballad over at the Captain's Cove on Cannery Row. He's ably backed by brothers Bob and Woody Barr and congo player Robert Baker. Composers from Cole Porter to Jim Webb are treated with appropriate respect with Mr. Dixon and he has the fine ability to pace his sets to the mood of the crowd. So let Len know what you want to hear.

Osprey is a recently formed quintet made up of Bryan Diamond, Julie Domac, Katherine Reclusada and Laurie Weber. All have had extensive experience on the local folk scene and certainly have the potential to break out of here and make some national noise in the future. A weekend trip to the Hatchcover will not disappoint any serious folk music buff.

LEN DIXON is currently appearing Wednesday through Sunday night at the Captain's Cove.

True. We're a little old-fashioned.

We're also fussy. We think too much of our Springfield brand to be any other way.

Maybe it's a little old-fashioned to go all the way to the Willamette Valley in Oregon to get our Blue Lake Green Beans. But the Willamette Valley has a reputation for growing the best green beans. And the best is what we want for Springfield.

Or consider Springfield Apple Juice. It's juice from Washington State apples, and only Washington State apples.

Or take Springfield pineapple. Sliced, chunk-style or crushed. Springfield pineapple is 100% Hawaiian pineapple. From Maui, because we're fussy. (You'd be surprised at the brands that aren't 100% Hawaiian pineapple.)

As for our canned whole tomatoes? We buy all of them from the San Joaquin Valley, because that's where tomatoes get to be the most tomato-y.

You get the idea. We're old-fashioned enough to care about the products that carry the Springfield label. And fussy enough to search for quality wherever we can find it.

Maybe that's why Springfield is the best-selling food brand in over 2,000 stores. In any event, we think it's reason enough for you to look for our current Springfield "Love the Price" specials at your store. It's kinda nice to be able to try something special when the prices are special, too.

MPC workshop explores dying

A workshop exploring human needs in situations related to death and dying will be presented by Monterey Peninsual College in cooperation with other community agencies on Saturday (Sept. 18) at Holiday Inn on the Beach, Monterey.

Sessions start at 9 a.m. and continue to 5 p.m.

"The Human Side of Death and Dying" will look at the ability of people to help each other and to meet their needs in situations involving the ailing aged and others with life-threatening illnesses. Topics will cover talking about death honestly and realisticallly, getting in touch with one's own mortality, handling grief, interaction of the dying person with others, children and death, and how a community can organize itself to help those in situations related to dying and death.

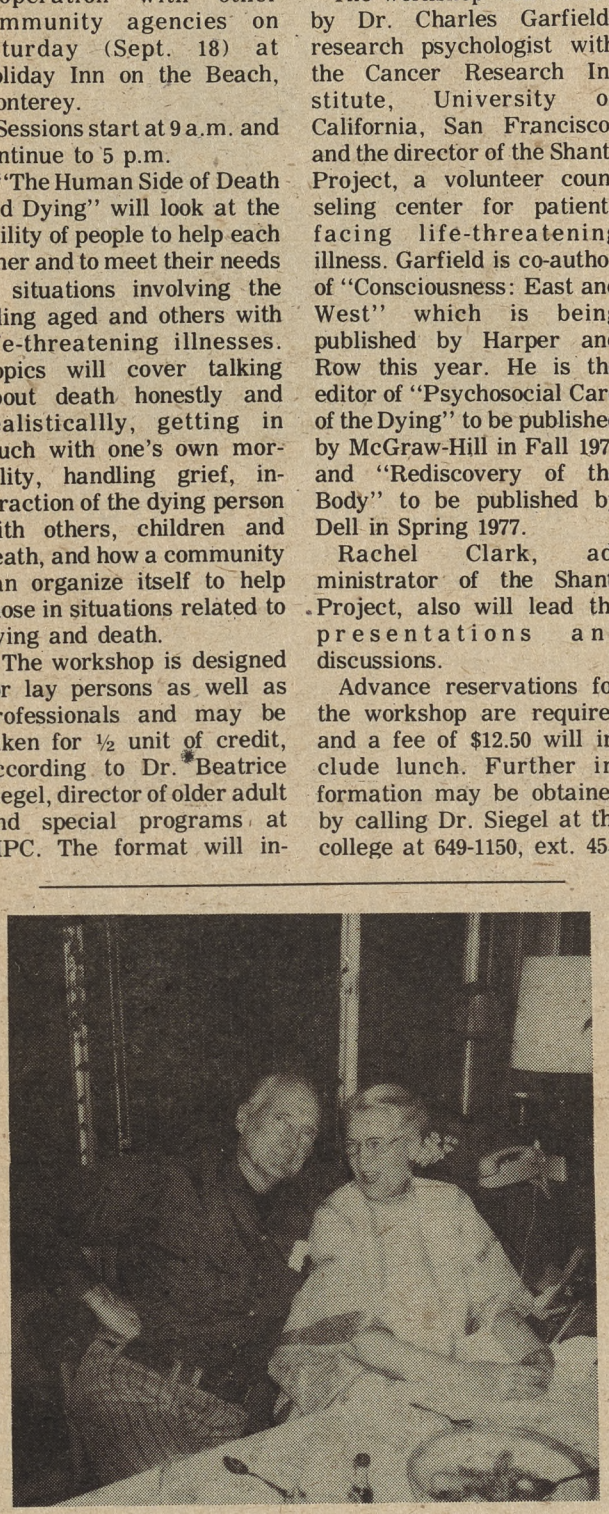

The workshop is designed for lay persons as well as professionals and may be taken for ½ unit of credit, according to Dr. Beatrice Siegel, director of older adult and special programs at MPC. The format will include presentations and the opportunity for discussion in small groups. The film "Counseling The Dying" will be shown.

The workshop will be led by Dr. Charles Garfield, research psychologist with the Cancer Research Institute, University of California, San Francisco, and the director of the Shanti Project, a volunteer counseling center for patients facing life-threatening illness. Garfield is co-author of "Consciousness: East and West" which is being published by Harper and Row this year. He is the editor of "Psychosocial Care of the Dying" to be published by McGraw-Hill in Fall 1977 and "Rediscovery of the Body" to be published by Dell in Spring 1977.

Rachel Clark, administrator of the Shanti Project, also will lead the presentations and discussions.

Advance reservations for the workshop are required and a fee of $12.50 will include lunch. Further information may be obtained by calling Dr. Siegel at the college at 649-1150, ext. 451.

Community agencies cooperating in arranging the workshop include the Alliance on Aging, American Cancer Society, American Red Cross, Carmel Presbyterian Church, Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula, Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula Auxiliary, Family Service Agency, Eskaton Monterey Healthcare Center, Monterey County Department of Social Services, Pacific Grove Convalescent Hospital, Suicide Prevention Center of Monterey County, Visiting Nurse Association, Volunteers in Action and St. James Parish.

We need water weather or not!

In the Monterey District, we talk about waiting for the fall and winter rains to replenish our limited water supply . . . but what happens if we have to wait for the proverbial April showers? For health and for public safety, we must conserve water in large amounts immediately.

Compliance with the restrictions of Phase One-Half is only a beginning. Save rinse water for use on plants inside and out. Reconsider that long soak in the tub. Such relaxation may be a luxury you will later regret. Another luxury you may choose to forgo is a water conditioner that recycles every 24 hours. Adjust it to recycle less often, or turn it off completely.

Check your home carefully for leaks. If you're conserving otherwise and your use doesn't decrease substantially, you probably have a leak that wastes not only precious water supplies, but dollars as well. Planning your water use is the key to saving water. Rationing at this date may be inconvenient, but compliance is required to save our remaining supplies.

The situation is serious. We can't wait for conditions to get entirely beyond our control before we do something. Rainmakers in flashy suits carrying bass drums won't help. Praying for rain doesn't always work. We are at the mercy of unpredictable skies. Each consumer must work to save water now.

Think Water Conservation. Every day.

Spanish Conversation class

A class in practical Spanish conversation will begin Monday, Sept. 13, 7 to 10 p.m. at the Tularcitos School.

The class, taught by professor Rogelio Castro, requires a basic knowledge of Spanish. For further information, contact Mary Berta at 659-2305 or Julie Resdon at 659-2205.

Measles serious

Last year there were 76 cases of measles reported in Monterey County. This represents an increase of over 3,000 per cent over the 2 cases reported in 1974. The State Department of Health in cooperation with the Monterey County Health Department are now undertaking a search and containment program for measles by which it hopes to eliminate further outbreaks.

State law requires that all children entering school for the first time be immunized against measles, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio. However, these diseases are life threatening to infants and inoculations should be started at the age of 2 months instead of waiting until the child starts school. The basic series can thus be completed by eighteen months and then only boosters are necessary before starting school. Life

Free Immunization clinics are held each month throughout the County. Call the Monterey County Health Department for dates and times.

Tay-Sach disease

The Monterey-Salinas Jewish community will sponsor two events this month in an effort to educate area residents about Tay-Sachs disease and to help prevent births of children with the always-fatal ailment.

On Wednesday, September 8 at 7:30 p.m., a general education meeting will be held to give parents-to-be and others the facts on the illness and how it can be prevented. Monday, September 20 at 6 p.m., a blood-testing program will be conducted by trained professionals working with a statewide program.

For more information, please call Les Tockerman at 394-7771, or in Salinas, Erika Soroken at 758-2290.

The Monterey County Fair doesn't have so much to offer since they separated the Horse Show from Fair Week. But my kids like it just fine. They like merry-go-round horses best!

Merry-go-rounds or carrousels have an interesting history. The appeal they hold for almost every human is not accidental. They are constructed from several elements which individually appeal to basic human nature.

The first recognizable figure every child draws is a circle. As soon as the three year old masters holding the crayon and not stabbing the paper, he creates a wobbly circle. Circles have a basic appeal to humans.

Circles appear in many forms of religious worship. Sun worship. Rose windows in cathedrals. Elaborately contrived mandalas. Stonehenge.

But other objects have been worshiped also because of the awe-inspiring impression they make on humans. Horses have been sacred from the white horses of Thebes to death on a black horse to knights in shining armor practicing "chivalry" (which word actually means "horsemanship.")

Humans also used to worship gold and jewels. Still do, in fact. All these things became elements in that fascinating toy, the carrousel.

Riding a carrousel has become one of the religious rituals of childhood. But they were not invented for children. Even the root words: Italian, "geroselle" and Spanish "carosells" shows the seriousness of the endeavor. The root words mean "little wars". Carrousels started as displays of fancy riding by the cavalry.

The cavalry got all dressed up in their fanciest uniforms and saddles and galloped round and round the soldiers parade ground.

This was a great show for the peasants and taxpayers. Louis the Fourteenth staged such an elaborate carrousel for impressing a mistress that the courtyard of the Louvre palace where it was held is still known as Place du Carrousel. That mounted carrousel were staged for the amusement of kings is still imaged in the wooden toys which imitate them. Plumes, golden harness, glitter and flash are part of the merry-go-round tradition. The French cavalry also showed off their horsemanship by spearing brass rings. This too was added to some merry-go-rounds.

The first mechanical carrousels were invented for French ladies who had enjoyed the cavalry displays. The wooden horses were suspended from cross arms like swings which were then rotated by a servant turning a crank in the center. Dull drudgery for the servant unless he got to look up petticoats.

The French revolution put an end to such goings on. However the idea of mechanical carrousels was taken across the English Channel by gypsies fleeing the upheavals in France. In the British Isles gypsies made a pretty good living going from fair to fair in the little country villages. They were known as horse traders and fortune tellers and tinkers. Taking along a mechanical ride fitted right into their activities and was a moneymaker at fairs. The wooden horses traveled more easily than real ones. It was the English who gave the carrousel its cozy, domestic name of "merry-go-round."

Merry-go-rounds evolved and revolved with the Industrial Revolution. Steam driven models were built. This could drive a much larger affair with many horses mounted on a revolving platform.

The principle of the steam driven engine is the offset eccentric shaft. This translated very easily into making merry-go-round horses go up and down. The British with their flair for inventive nonsense made very complicated merry-go-rounds that tilted and had sub revolving pieces. These were the grandfathers of every other mechanical carnival ride.

But it was in America that the merry-go-round found its greatest popularity. Americans had a woodcarving tradition of fanciful carvings. Merry-go-rounds were carved by the same men who built Victorian frame houses covered with "carpenter gothic" and by cabinet makers who specialized in lion's footed furniture.

Gustave Dentzel, a Philadelphia cabinet maker, built the first American merry-go-round and toured the East Coast with it a little over one hundred years ago. It made him a fortune and he built several more.

Between 1900 and 1930 more than a dozen companies built merry-go-rounds in America. They carved wooden horses which are now acknowledged works of art but even at that time were acknowledged as the most extravagant in the world. Other fanciful animals carried passengers also: cats, dogs, rabbits, ostriches, chickens, frogs, giraffes. The Americans also invented the dragon coach which gave a smooth ride for the youngest and oldest passengers.

The merry-go-rounds were mostly built to withstand not only rough wear of adults and youths climbing on and off but also the rigors of frequent disassembly and traveling. So they have lasted well. Over a hundred of the golden oldies are still operating among the four hundred or so operating merry-go-rounds in this country.

Restoring inoperative merry-go-rounds has become an obsessive hobby for the four hundred members of the National Carrousel Roundtable. They publish a quarterly journal, the Merry-Go-Roundup full of helpful hints. They deplore the maverick antique dealer who sells disassembled merry-go-rounds by the piece. One of their members has donated a whole working old merry-go-round to the Smithsonian Institution as an outstanding example of American Folk Art.

Although most modern merry-go-rounds are mass produced from identical fiberglass molds, Californians can still ride some old ones. The Children's Zoo in San Francisco's Fleishacker Zoo has a beauty where frogs wearing coachman's coats and leaping rabbits carry passengers.

One of the world's finest plays under cover at Santa Cruz Beach and Boardwalk. This is a very large merry-go-round with traditional brass rings to be caught by the outside riders. No two horses are alike and each are decorated fantastically with carved fruits and animals ornamenting their saddles as well as jewels and curlicues.

Los Angeles County Fairgrounds at Pomona is said to have a classic old merry-go-round as does Griffith Park. A fine and unappreciated old merry-go-round plays out of doors at Riverside. Near the famous San Diego Zoo is another beautiful old merry-go-round popular with generations of children.

Children seem to have inherited this particular form of circle-horse-music-glitter worship. Nor are they much deterred by the degenerated imitations made of plastic and aluminum which tour the county fairs. Since each element is basically appealing to human nature, nobody who claims to be human can resist their fascinating charms.

Arabian-Morgan show

The Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club announced today that they will hold an Arabian-Morgan Show on Sept. 12 on the club grounds, East Garzas Road in Carmel Valley. The show will be a first of its kind for the Monterey Peninsula.

Halter Classes for Arabians, Half Arabians, and the Morgan will be included with performance classes for each category, as well as Championship Classes in Western and English riding, as well as Park Horse Riding.

A special exhibition will be given during the noon break with a Parade of Stallions featuring both Arabs and Morgans, and a Tandem Carriage Horse Demonstration by Mrs. Evelyn Harrod of Morgan Hill, California.
